Common Challenges We Solve

STRATEGY

How do I gain certainty that our product vision and direction will deliver the business outcomes we need instead of making big bets that might not pay off?

OPERATIONS

How do I establish the practices and systems that keep us delivering efficiently with clarity instead of everything being last-second chaos?

ORGANIZATION

How do I structure my teams so they work independently toward the same objectives instead of creating silos or stepping on each other?

GO-TO-MARKET

How do I get my product in front of the right customers and grow the business instead of building great products that nobody discovers?

Services

Strategy-to-Execution Product Transformation

Most organizations waste millions on strategies built on assumptions rather than evidence. We conduct market and user research to ground your product vision in real customer needs, then embed with your teams to execute alongside you—turning roadmap decks into production releases. We build knowledge transfer into every engagement—your team owns the outcomes and the capability to replicate success independently.

Product Operations Foundation: Multiply Team Productivity

Teams without product ops waste 40%+ of time coordinating instead of creating value—a hidden tax costing hundreds of hours monthly. We establish the operational systems that multiply your team's output: data infrastructure providing actionable insights, governance frameworks enabling faster decisions, AI-powered tools that accelerate research and prioritization, and proven best practices from scaling product organizations. This foundation is essential before scaling from 5 to 20+ PMs effectively.

Product Organization Architecture: Teams That Scale

70% of startups fail from premature scaling—hiring too fast without systems. We partner with you to design product team structures, establish cross-functional operating models that align sales and marketing, and build career frameworks that prevent $150K+ bad hires. We integrate product-led growth strategies with enterprise sales, transforming your organization from chaos to coordinated execution across 5 to 50+ PMs.

AI/ML Product Acceleration: POC to Production

85% of GenAI pilots fail to reach production. We combine deep technical expertise with product strategy to move your AI/ML initiatives from proof-of-concept to revenue-generating products. We address the 70% "product mindset" gap that prevents production deployment with proven frameworks for data governance, model performance management, and cross-functional alignment.

Testimonials

"Critical Path made our first venture into software development seamless. Their communication was outstanding, and they expertly guided us through each phase. The AI-powered prototype they built exceeded our expectations and gave us a polished product to showcase that helped us close our first major clients."

Erin Bresnahan

COO, Avomotion

"Chris delivered exceptional work facilitating our vision workshop. He thoroughly researched our leadership team's needs, expertly organized the session topics, and skillfully drove us to alignment on both our long-term product vision and immediate milestones. His structured approach helped our founding team gain the clarity we needed."
